

Inaugural LGBTQ Conference At Harvard University

Corporate
Partnership
Program

2013-2014

Welcome

Greetings from the various Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer groups at the Harvard Business School, Harvard Kennedy School, and Harvard Law School.

We are proud to announce the inaugural LGBTQ Conference at Harvard University that will take place on February 1-2, 2014. This event will be the first annual LGBTQ Conference to be held across Harvard graduate schools with the purpose of bringing together the University's students, scholars, alumni, as well as practitioners and guests from across the country for a weekend of programming designed to explore and address critical issues for the LGBTQ community from an interdisciplinary perspective.

2014 will mark the 45th anniversary of the Stonewall Riots, and with the historic U.S. Supreme Court rulings this past June, this year's conference, "Forty-five years since Stonewall...What's next for the LGBTQ movement?" aims to review where we have come since 1969, and the next frontiers and outstanding opportunities for the LGBTQ community across the business, legal, and political landscapes.

Our partnerships with corporate sponsors are critical for the success of this inaugural conference and for establishing a robust foundation for future conferences. Our founding sponsors will gain unprecedented access to a diverse pool of talent drawn from all of Harvard's renowned graduate programs while affording sponsors extensive exposure and visibility in the Harvard alumni network and greater LGBTQ community. With programming designed to engage and involve a diverse audience, we are working with the LGBT student associations across graduate schools, alumni networks, and community organizations to maximize outreach and inclusion.

We hope you will seriously consider the very special opportunity to be a founding corporate sponsor of the LGBTQ Conference at Harvard University for 2014. If you would like to be a corporate sponsor or have any questions, please contact us . With your help, we can make the LGBTQ Conference at Harvard University a resounding and continuing success.

Thank you,

The Co-Chairs of the LGBTQ Conference at Harvard University
